

Fact Sheet on Opportunities at School of Social Work at Hebrew University, Jerusalem, Israel.

The Factor-Inwentash Faculty of Social Work (FIFSW) is excited to be able to offer an international opportunity offered through Hebrew University in Israel.

Students undertaking courses, including practicum at Hebrew University will need to structure their courses carefully and be in good standing.

The practicum will depend on the availability of field instructors and clients/projects. Students' learning in practicum will be evaluated by the Hebrew University field supervisor and our FIFSW Practicum Office. Usual documentation such as learning contracts and evaluations will be expected, although adaptations for competency relevancy can be arranged. Students will need to be in regular contact with their FIFSW faculty-field liaison via negotiated methods (e.g.: e-mail, reflection logs).

Courses other than practicum should be considered as electives.

Students must register with the Centre for International Experience (CIE) at University of Toronto and adhere to their policies re international study/placement <http://cie.utoronto.ca/>. All enquiries related to financial assistance should be directed to the CIE. The student is deemed a student of the University of Toronto.

Next Steps

The Selection Committee will contact the School of Social Work, Hebrew University, for a practicum and other courses that will meet the requirements of the FIFSW.

It is necessary to do pre-planning of your courses to allow for a length of time in Jerusalem to complete the practicum and to address the different program schedules. For example, after finishing Year 1 winter classes, a FIFSW student may need to be immediately ready to complete a block placement in Jerusalem for the spring/summer of that year.
