FAQs:

When do I declare my field of study?

Year 1 of 2-year MSW Program: Submit your form to the Registrar, normally by the beginning of February http://socialwork.utoronto.ca/current-students/forms/

Advanced Standing MSW Program: Indicate field of study when applying for admission to the program.

Who do I contact for advice on field of study selection?
Your faculty advisor. Advisors are assigned to students by the Associate Dean, Academic’s Office. Notification is by e-mail at the start of September. If you do not know who your advisor is, e-mail Natasha Valentine n.valentine@utoronto.ca

Can I take core courses offered in other fields of study to count as my electives?
Students have the option of taking a course from another field of study to count as an elective if there is room in the course after students in the field have enrolled. Check with the Faculty Registrar sharon.bewell@utoronto.ca to see whether there is space in another course prior to the start of the term the course is offered. Typically, we will know if there is room in a course by the end of July for Fall Session courses and by the end of November for January Session courses.

What competencies can I expect to gain from this field of study?
Students will become familiar with the social ecological/developmental model which views children as interacting with and affected by their whole environment, an approach that is informed by the most current empirical research. Child mental health and the various issues children and youth are referred for services will be covered. Students in Children and their Families can expect to learn how to engage children and their families, and conduct assessments and evidence-informed interventions across systems levels. Students will learn to critically analyse policies and identify impacts on children and families. Evaluating practice and programs and developing proposals for service funding will also be part of the student learning experience. Students will leave the program with networking and advocacy skills and knowledge of program and policy development.
