The CAMH Forensic Early Intervention Service is located within the Toronto South Detention Centre (not CAMH). The FEIS team is a partnership between the Ministry of the Solicitor General (correctional services) and the Ministry of Health and Long Term Care. The primary activities would be to provide assessment and triage of clients referred to the service by TSDC healthcare staff. While many clients are referred to the service, clients are accepted to the program if they have concerns related to fitness to stand trial or a Not Criminally Responsible (NCR) legal pathway.
